Government Technology Seminar 2011

We are seeing a convergence of increasing threats, growing global regulatory pressure, cost constraints, and evolving security tools challenging IT departments. Professional criminals, not bored teenage hackers, are now the source of our most serious security threats. With the session led by the expertise in this event, you'll gain insight into the latest technology and tools, strategy and best practices, to successfully implement and manage the right level of IT security for your agency.

Please come and join us on 12th October 2011 to find out more.
